

I am speaking from the medical enterprise technological interview in Mumbai, in India. And something like now in the center of excellence for artificial intelligence, we are working on a project of AI smart work and so far we have made great progress in the arts of hardware development and integrating embedded software. of their own top-off rate range, come up with a lot of new applications, and you can see this line for you to make the learning experience more and more advanced and in-caching.